SHARING HOPE FROM THE TRUTH OF GOD'S LOVE

Many women are eager to share Christ with unsaved friends and family, but don't know where to start. Since Jesus loves them more than we could ever, and since His love is what compels us, how about talking with them about love? Tell them about the love that sent Jesus to the cross to save us from the condemnation we deserve. Not only will His love bring joy and hope to their lives, it will also encourage you and invigorate you in the daily battle against sin.

Directions for Study

- Carefully read the following verses or passages, and then write down specifically what the truth about God's love should mean for you and do for you.
- After completing the Scripture passages, highlight 3-5 truth that you find most meaningful.
- Write out a brief prayer asking God to make these truths real to you so that you are quick to share them with your loved ones.
- Bring the completed study to your coach, so you can discuss ways to share these truths. If you are fearful, have your coach role play conversations with you
- Have your coach pray with you regarding specific relationships and opportunities to share God's love. Then, report to your coach on how you have shared these truths.
